

From Melissa H. Mulrooney, Executive Director & CEO
April 2, 2020

With Warmest Appreciation

While it is not the spring we expected to have with you at the Stamford Museum & Nature Center, we are certainly glad and so very grateful you are with us.

Although the whole world seems to have paused, we can assure you that Spring is “springing forth” on our beautiful campus and on Heckscher Farm.

The Operations Team continues to diligently work on needed projects and maintain the grounds, keeping them pristine. Our Organic Garden is being well tended to by “Gardener Sharon.” Garlic bulbs are already coming up, garden beds are being readied with ground covers and soil enrichment. Lots of seeds sown and growing in our greenhouse. We will soon have delicious vegetables and beautiful flowers.

And of course, we can't forget the Heckscher Farm babies! Our new lambs, Raven and Magpie are simply adorable. Rest assured that our dedicated Farm Staff are here taking good care of our expecting mothers, new babies, all of our beloved animals.

While the SM&NC remains closed until we can safely open with our dedicated Team, we will continue to send our regular electronic newsletters and will be highlighting some special topics. More than ever, we are finding solace and strength in the natural world—be it in our own backyards, our neighborhoods, or now virtually on the SM&NC social media pages.

Through our Facebook and Instagram pages you'll go behind the scenes with us, receive some expert spring gardening tips, and get a glimpse of the new life and wonder happening at the SM&NC. For those of you who already follow us on Facebook, we hope you are enjoying our online classes and video posts.

Check out our upcoming classes here.

We love hearing from you about what you'd like to see from us.

Please reach out on our social media channels or email my office.

As we all come together with extraordinary measures to protect our community, we're reminded of how much we rely on—and truly appreciate—the support of loyal Members and friends like you. Thank you for being a part of our SM&NC family.

We are eagerly awaiting your return.

Connect with us

